

Russell stars

DAVE RUSSELL, the former Flackwell Heath winger, is included in the Slough Town that meets Wycombe Wanderers tomorrow (Saturday) at Wexham Park in the Rothmans Isthmian League.

Russell signed for the 'Rebels' in the close season and has made a big impression. Already he has five goals to his credit and will need careful attention from the Blues full backs tomorrow. His performances this season have attracted several scouts from professional clubs.

Another Slough newcomer this term is Keiron Somers, who joined from Wimbledon while in midfield Terry Reardon needs no introduction to Wanderers fans. Terry left the Blues after a four year stay to join his home club. Trevor Porter has taken over in goal for Paul Barrow who turned professional last season with Plymouth.

Slough got off to a dismal start to the season but are unbeaten in their last 12 outings, including Tuesday night's 1-0 win over Leytonstone in an FA Cup replay. But Wycombe are also on a good run at the moment with a settled team and manager Ted Powell is unlikely to change the line-up from Tuesday's 1-0 win over Hendon. There is a slight doubt over John Maskell who has a foot injury.

Wycombe will be anxious to put last season's matches against Slough behind them. They played the Rebels four times — and lost the lot!
